Prototype Review with User Jim Glass
Date: June 24, 2015

Purpose: 18F - OpenFDA AE Transparency Prototype

Meeting Notes:

A demonstration of the prototype was conducted with Jim Glass to solicit feedback on functionality and design.

Mr. Glass liked the clean design style stating it met his usability standards. He liked the use of the user communities as the basis for the main menu.

In reviewing the consumer reaction area of the website he made some additional suggestions:

- Add a header and breadcrumb to the top of the graphic area
- Provide some more details describing how to use the search and filter
- In the future, it might be beneficial to export the graph into a printable format
- Add a placeholder message for screens not yet completed

Overall, Mr. Glass felt the prototype included some of his suggestions for what he would like to see in an adverse event transparency website. He felt we were heading in the right direction.
